Advice about wah-wah's!

To get the best sound from your wah always use it last in line after all your other pedals. The fatter the signal it gets the better it will sound. If you use a battery to power your wah-wah try to always use an Energizer or Duracell they last much longer and the wah will sound better and run much quieter.

KORG G3

Multi-Effects Mega Deal

$399

Free delivery!

Save a massive $200 on the Korg G3, we have 10 units only to be cleared at this crazy low price, check it out...

Control that doesn't get in the way of creativity.

The G3 is a total rethink of how digital guitar multi-effects processors are used. As a rule, they usually offer musicians amazing signal processing power but most of them are hard to use and understand. Not the new G3. Every effect parameter is instantly controlled with the simple turn of a knob even when you're on stage playing live

Breakthrough performance at a breakthrough price.

The G3's all digital internal effects include Compressor, Overdrive, Metal style Distortion, EQ, Stereo Flanger, Stereo Chorus, Rotary Speaker (Rotovibe style), Delay and Reverb! Over $1500 worth of effects if bought separately. They're all easily changed by the effect parameter controls: Drive, Tone, Speed, Time and Level. Up to 6 effects can be used at once to create an awesome array of sound possibilities with any guitar through any amp, live or in the studio.

Clean, Crunch and Lead Modes.

To increase the G3's user friendliness, programs have been divided into 3 modes: CLEAN, CRUNCH and LEAD. With a dedicated footswitch for each mode it's so easy to select the sound groups you need on a dark stage in the middle of a solo. You can't go wrong!

Intelligent Editing

With Korg's new Integrated Parameter Editing, the effect parameter controls actually select different effects in each of the 3 modes. For example, in the CLEAN mode the Drive parameter selects Compressor attack and sensitivity. But, in the CRUNCH mode the Drive parameter yields a selection of Overdrive gain levels. Instant control, instant sound satisfaction!

But wait, there's more!

The G3's bank footswitch allows the player to choose from 3 banks of CLEAN, CRUNCH and LEAD for a total of 9 user programs. The G3 also includes a unique and simplified bypass function eliminating the need for a separate bypass switch. And the G3 also includes Edit Compare, Input and Output Level controls and Noise Reduction. From start to finish, the new Korg G3 has been designed for you to play.

Take 10-days to check it out at home.

All phone or mail order customers have 10-days from the day of delivery to really check out the amazing new G3 in their own home. SALE PRICE
$1269

Introducing the new Laney GH100S tube-heads. 100 big watts and 100% tube!

GH100S 100 watt tube head

SALE $1269

Is a master volume style head that's been truly hot-rodded with a permanent fifth stage of added gain plus several nasty high gain mods that re-bias the rest of it's volume stages. This amp is definitely not for the faint hearted. It was designed to be used on stage in large venues and was inspired by Tommy Iommi of Black Sabbath who himself uses several of these babies LIVE! The GH100S features a tube-coupled effects loop, link jacks for chaining several heads together, a resonance or speaker dampening control (a cool feature that provides extra tight bottom-end) and an ingenious array of multi-impedance output jacks for correct impedance matching with any speaker box. Other features included a special time delay circuit that keeps the output tubes from powering up before they are warmed up, thus prolonging their life span, and a selectable biasing switch that allows the use of EL34 (standard) tubes or 6L6 output tubes. This head really kicks hard with great overdrive tone. Check it out!

"Lace Sensor" Pickups

A brief history:

Designed for Fender to provide that classic 'Fender' sound but to eliminate the unwanted noise of single-coil pickups. The Lace-Sensor pickups all deliver a wider tonal range while maintaining a much better string balance than conventional Fender pickups. Lace-Sensors offer active pickup frequency response but they don't need a battery, they are totally passive. Lace Sensors can be mixed with your existing pickups and are very easy to fit.

ARTICULATE SOUND PHONIC Mixers

Introducing the best value live mixers available...

Available in 8, 12, 16 or 24-channel the Phonic PMC-B Series of live mixers represent the best quality you can buy for your dollar. This superb range of mixers gives you the quality and flexibility usually found in much higher priced consoles. For ease of use, logical layout, clean quiet operation and solid construction they simply cannot be beaten. Check this out....

- Available in 8, 12, 16 or 24-channel configuration (16-channel above)
- High headroom, low-noise engineering ensures the cleanest, quietest operation
- Each channel allows for the connection of low impedance microphones via XLR (Cannon) inputs (switchable phantom powering also) plus each channel also accepts a 1/4 inch jack plug for high-impedance signals from mikes, synths, guitars, basses etc.
- Insert points are provided on every channel. A simple send/return cable is all you'll need to apply outboard effects directly to any channel, even when all Aux Sends and Returns are already in use.
- Gain Controls on every channel. Your first line of defense against input overload and distortion.
- Three-band EQ. Sound shaping and feedback control has never been easier or more effective. The musical quality of the PMC-B Series 3-band EQ is the result of years of experience in the design and engineering of sound consoles.
- Three Aux Sends per channel. One pre-fader send and two post-fader sends allow you to make three extra, independent mixes for sending to monitor systems, external effects, remote trucks etc. The two post-fader sends can be easily converted to pre-fader sends by moving an internal jumper.
- Two Aux Returns, each with panning capabilities. Now your outboard effects devices can have their own exact stereo placement without using up your input channels. Or, use these as extra, pannable line-level inputs when necessary.
- Pan controls on every channel for precise placement of every mike and instrument in the stereo sound-field.
- Mix Output with Mix Fader allows an independent mono mix to be done at the same time as the conventional stereo mix. You'll find plenty of uses for this mono mix, from reference recordings to radio feeds to extra rooms or zones in a club.
- Stereo Headphone Output with independent level control and special Cueing circuitry, which allows the sound-person to monitor selected channels without changing the house mix. Plenty of volume for even the highest impedance phones.
- All inputs and outputs are positioned for easy access from the front. All jacks are labelled for reading from the front. No more leaning over the mixer and trying to read upside down in the dark.

The PMC-B Series mixers all carry a big 3 year warranty and are proving highly reliable in every application throughout Australia. They are also ideal for churches, schools and other institutions where reliability and ease of use is vital. Call and ask about our 10-day free trial period. Roland XP-50 it's here!

Introducing the brand new Roland XP-50 Music Workstation. This is a new music workstation developed along the concept of instant response and more realtime operation. A complete rethink of the music workstation, the XP-50 streamlines operational flow and increases comprehensive music workstation power, effectively handling everything from music production to live performance, without compromise. The 32-bit RISC (Reduced Instruction Set Computer) chip exercises optimal control over all the new XP-50 features. Like a newly developed MRC Pro sequencer system that is highly advanced, yet allows spontaneous operation to maintain your creative flow. And a sound source that is the equivalent to the acclaimed Roland JV-1080, providing superb sound quality, advanced functions and maximum expandability. The XP-50's advantages synergistically combine to establish a new reference standard for music workstations in terms of sheer expressiveness, performance scope and operational versatility.

32-bit RISC chip enables instant response.

The XP-50's main CPU is a 32-bit RISC chip for lightning fast and accurate response to performance data. Using this chip places all work-station operational flow under advanced central processing control.

Onboard high-performance MRC Pro sequencer.

The XP-50 incorporates a new MRC Pro sequencer that expands and advances editing functions of the industry-standard MC-series sequencers. Emphasizing realtime production to accommodate today's musical applications, the MRC Pro promotes off-the-cuff production and performance that maintain your creative flow. The MRC Pro features 16 phrase tracks, each capable of controlling up to 16 MIDI channels plus a tempo track.

Features that make song composing much easier.

Loop Recording lets you smoothly create a song without interrupting the musical flow. Pattern Paste speeds up song creation because complete patterns can simply be pasted. The XP-50 memorizes up to 100 customized patterns.

The XP-50 also offers multiple quantize functions. Grid Quantize accurately aligns manually input data according to the beat. Shuffle Quantize can be set for variations in precise 1% increments. Groove Quantize creates grooves containing timing as well as minute velocity variations as a convenient template. Simply assign phrases to the template to obtain different intricate grooves, such as dance grooves, in an instant.

A Preview function is also included for editing while confirming data variations on the monitor in realtime.

Functions that enhance performance.

Realtime Phrase Sequencing allows the user's own pattern to be assigned to a key. Then play back the selected phrases such as fill-ins and obligato that suit performance. Songs do not have to be loaded, since the XP-50 can play data directly from the disk. Songs saved to a single disk can also be played continuously without waiting between songs. Using a 2HD disk allows continuous play of up to 18,000 notes.

Compatible with popular data formats.

The XP-50 features Standard MIDI File compatibility and its tone map conforms to General MIDI for conveniently playing commercial SMF song data in GM. The XP-50 can also convert Super MRC format data created on a sequencer like the Roland MC-50Mk2 for instant use.

A sound source that copes easily with the most demanding requirements.

The XP-50's 64-voice polyphony copes with the most sophisticated playing requirements and 16-part multitimbral capability makes it easy to handle elaborate sequence data with multi-instrument arrangements. The XP-50's most important advantage for the pro user is there are no more worries about hardware limiting musical expression.

Access to more sounds than ever before.

Many of Roland's latest waveforms are included to give sounds more impact. The XP-50 can accept up to four SR-JV80 series wave expansion boards (16 meg each in 16-bit linear format) at one time, to significantly boost the internal memory. There are currently five available titles - Pop, Orchestra, Piano, Vintage Synth and World - with many more to follow. This extensive library can provide just about any waveform desired. There are 10 Tone structures including two wave generators, time variant filters (TVF's) and time variant amplifiers (TVA's) as well as ring modulator and booster. To aid in creating sounds, a full battery of high-quality effects are provided including eight reverbs, one chorus and 40 insert effects like phaser and distortion.

And more....

- The XP-50's 61-note velocity and aftertouch sensitive keyboard delivers the expressive power needed for recording and performance.
- New bender design features a longer modulation stroke along with larger lever diameter to make bender operation smoother and more comfortable.
- A large backlit 40-character, 2-line LCD for easy sound and data editing.
- A built-in 3.5" FDD for 2DD and 2HD floppy disks.

New!

'Virtual Reality' guitar is here

Introducing the new Roland V Guitar System

You are about to experience the next generation of guitar....yes really. The Roland VG-8 is a whole new chapter in the evolution of the guitar. Well what does it do? It does everything you want it to, it's 'virtual reality' for your guitar.

The VG-8 looks much like a floor multi-effects processor and in fact it works in a similar way except it doesn't process your existing guitar sound, it creates guitar sound for you. ...and believe me does it create guitar sound.

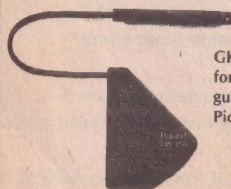

Imagine being able to select 'virtual' pickups that let you instantly change from heavy metal humbucking mega drive to a smooth, vintage single coil Strat sound to an acoustic 12-string. Imagine being able to change the position of the 'virtual' pickup on the guitar placing it anywhere between the bridge and the 12th fret.

Imagine being able to select 'virtual' sounds from your guitar....you can now. The VGM mode enables you to dial up 128 different amazing guitar sounds by different players. For instance you produce the identical sound characteristics of a 1968 Marshall 100 watt stack on full-blast or the exact lead sound of your favourite player. You have the sound of any guitar, through any amp, on your guitar. Think about it for a minute. Your guitar can sound like anybody else's guitar sound. It's 'virtual reality' for guitarists.

To add the finishing touches to your V guitar sound creations, professional quality effects and eq are built-in making the VG-8 a completely self contained guitar sound production system.

The VG-8 V can be controlled with almost any guitar by using the Roland GK-2A pickup. This pickup quickly installs on the body of most steel-string electric or acoustic guitars transforming a $250 guitar into a complete fire breathing guitarists dream machine. The GK-2A pickup enables a variety of amazing creative capabilities. For instance, pitch shift can be applied to individual strings, giving you instant open tunings without touching your tuning keys. Or you can switch to an authentic 12-string sound. Each string can be panned individually to provide a rich stereo image or a unique stereo environment. You should hear the polyphonic distortion that lets you play heavily distorted power chords with distinctive harmony. Designed by guitarists for guitarists the unit features a floor-pedal design for instant sound selection. You even get a built-in chromatic tuner.

The V guitar system is hard to explain on half a page. It's not a synthesiser or an effects processor, the technology is new and is here to stay. The easiest way to describe it is 'virtual reality' for the guitar. You can select a guitar experience and enjoy it. You can plug it straight into any PA (because you don't need an amp anymore) and instantly select the world's most amazing guitar sounds or program your own. You can record directly out of it with the world's greatest sound going directly onto tape. No more miking up amps, the V guitar enables you to select the sound of an amp miked up by the mike of your choice. Call in and experience this magic for yourself. Ya gotta hear it.

If all these songs aren't enough, you can write your own from the 100 styles and 100 chord programs inside. If you're lazy like me and need more original cover songs you can choose from the 250 more available on the optional Kawai cards. You can even plug your guitar direct into the GB-4 and mix your guitar with your 'band' inside. You even have a built-in overdrive you can footswitch on and off. The GB-4 will also act as a GM compatible playback module through MIDI. The 4 separate outputs mean you can individually mix the 4 instrument groups in your GB-4 band. The backing is brilliant with top quality drums, bass, brass, pianos, strings, pads, organs etc all making up very realistic original arrangements. It's a blast to perform with, it won't get drunk and you never need to pay it. A complete chord chart of each song above is included so you can quickly learn your repertoire. The GB-4 will plug into any amplifier or PA. You can just sing along with it or play guitar or piano or bass or drums along with it as you sing. The GB-4 is a dream to work with, it's easy to use and understand. If you're still singing along with an old drum machine somewhere. The GB-4 will transform your sound, the audience will love you.
